

Militia of 3 States Called Out For Duty On Mexican Border

Cabinet Refuses To Grant Obregon's Demand That Time Limit be Placed On Troops Stay In Mexico

CONFERENCE IS PROBABLY AT AN END

BY E. T. KUNKLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
El Paso, May 9.—Admitting the Mexican situation has suddenly become grave, Major General Funston planned today to return at once to San Antonio to direct the militia of the three states which are ordered out for patrol duty.

Funston declined to comment on the reported ultimatum demanding withdrawal of American troops from Mexico and threatening attack on the American troops by Carranza forces, if they remained. "I can say nothing," Funston declared. "We are pledged to secrecy." Funston may be able to leave for San Antonio late this afternoon. He will discuss military matters with General Scott before going.

Carranza War Minister Obregon has 35,000 men in strategic positions in northern Mexico. No secret was made of the fact that conditions today are more threatening than at any other time since the negotiations began.

Washington, May 9.—Secretary of War Baker today announced that he had issued orders for the calling out of the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. Baker declared the outbreak of Mexican raids in the Big Ben country of Texas has so far further emphasized the danger of similar occurrences on the border that he deemed it necessary to enlarge the forces.

Baker issued the following statement immediately after the announcement: "The outbreak in the Big Ben district of the Rio Grande has so far further emphasized the danger of similar occurrences along our long border that the President has called out the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico and has directed them to report to General Funston who will assign them stations along the border for patrol duty."

In addition to the militia the following infantry are ordered to the border: Thirtieth, Flaxburg, N. Y.; Third, Madison Barracks, Oswego, N. Y.; Twenty-first, Vancouver, Wash.; Fourteenth, Fort Lawton, Wash. The militia of the three states drawn upon numbers about 4,000 men.

Secretary Baker declined to say whether the new orders were the result of General Scott's message concerning the first conference. Baker declared it was based on recommendations from Scott and Funston as the result of the Big Ben raid. He would neither affirm or deny that Obregon had demanded the withdrawal of the troops under the penalty of a clash between them and Carranza forces.

The raid on Glenn Springs, Texas which resulted in the death of three troopers and one civilian was organized in the United States, Mexican Ambassador Arredondo engaged in a conference with Secretary Lansing today. The Carranza representative named J. Villalaz formerly a Villa general as the principal agitator responsible for border raids.

Arredondo said he had no knowledge of any further request of Obregon or any Mexican official that the United States troops be withdrawn. All he knew he said was that General Obregon and Scott are still conference.

Arredondo urged that a larger body of American troops be sent to the American side of the line to guard the territory and to watch American conspirators who are endeavoring to stir up mutiny among the Carranza troops and to inflame border raids. It was announced that Secretary Lansing would take up the charges at once with Secretary Baker.

Obregon Demands Time Limit
General Obregon has demanded that a time limit be set upon the stay of United States troops in Mexico. The United States government will refuse positively to submit to any such limits, it was decided at today's cabinet meeting. The government's policy will be to continue to refuse to make a time limit.

Generals Scott and Obregon are expected to have one more conference at least. Word of Obregon's demand was transmitted here by General Scott. He expected to file another message presumably after a conference today. Reports that Obregon had threatened to use Carranza troops against American soldiers if they remained in Mexico were said not to be "exact" though stories bearing on this were said to be not without foundation.

EXTRA EDITORIAL

WHAT WE NEED AT HARRISBURG

It may not be necessary again to protest that the Progress is not opposed to local option because it is not for local option. The distinction is not even a fine one, yet many people are unwilling, or unable, to understand how it is possible not to be against a thing if not wholeheartedly for it.

Also, it may not be necessary for this paper to reiterate that in supporting Americus H. Woodward and Harry Boulton for nomination for the general assembly, it considers it necessary to wage war on the other Republican candidates, some of whom are endorsed by the temperance forces of the county solely for the reason that they publicly pledge their support to local option.

What this paper is fighting for—what the Citizens' Committee is fighting for—is the nomination of men for the general assembly who are big men, out of the ordinary men, men of character and force and ability who will be able to take their places in the high councils of the assembly instead of flitting around the outskirts and devoting their whole thought to picking off an item or two of personal patronage here and there.

This country needs men in the assembly, whether they are Republicans, Democrats, Progressives, Socialists, Local Optionists, or what-not. We cannot afford longer to cleave blindly to a cause without thought of the ability of the men who present themselves to serve the cause. We cannot afford longer to accept as sufficient the moral comfort such support gives us, and ignore the larger facts of existence which affect not only our morals, but the economic and social conditions which underlie them.

The Progress does not know whether Woodward and Boulton are for or against local option—and does not care. What it does know is that both men are admirably equipped, mentally, morally and in every other way, to render faithful and efficient service to this county, further than which it does not even care to inquire.

In behalf of the candidacy of Woodward and Boulton, the Progress makes bold to urge this thought: They are of the timber—"calibre," if you will—we so urgently need. They are honest, four-square on all matters affecting the interests of the County, and of metal capacity to think for themselves. More than that is hard to find in any man.

freda Recant, one of the commanders of the northern military zone of Mexico, arrived today at Laredo with his staff in a special train. He announced he was on a "military visit" but refused to say whether his trip had any connection with the request of the defunct government for the withdrawal of the American expedition, from Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., May 9. (By United Press.)—General Scott sent O. T. Brown, war department agent, to Jaurez to arrange for a conference late today. It was learned definitely that General Obregon did not present an ultimatum in last night's conference with Scott. He did, however, refuse to sign the agreement unless concessions regarding the withdrawal of the expedition were incorporated in it.

FINED FOR SHIPPING VENISON THROUGH MAILED

Daniel C. Conder, a lumberman, of Union township, Huntingdon, was fined $100 at a hearing before Justice David S. Black on a charge of attempting to mail a haunch of venison by parcel post from Manlinton depot. When asked by Postmaster Bruce Yeum what the package contained Conder said to have replied that it was merchandise. When Conder left the office Yeum's suspicions were confirmed when he examined the parcel and found the venison. Conder was prosecuted by Seth E. Gordon secretary of the state game commission and came within a hair of taking an appeal to court.

Several other surrounding towns and residents were alarmed. The explosion was heard all around.

SINKING OF THE CYMRIC MAY TEST NEW SUB POLICY

Act Giving Officialdom Real Concern—Consul Says Boat Was in Admiralty

Fresh Complications Arise—State Liner was Sent to Bottom Without Warning—Five of Crew Drowned.

Washington, May 9. (By United Press.)—Berlin's new submarine policy may already have been put to the test by one of Germany's submarine commanders. The sinking of the White Star liner Cymric, concerned in press dispatches today was giving officialdom real concern.

It was stated that if the vessel was sunk without warning the act constituted a breach of the new policy whether Americans were on board or not.

Late dispatches from United States Consul Frost, at Queenstown, said that five of the Cymric's crew were killed when the torpedo hit the engine room. He said in his message that the inference to be drawn was that the Cymric was sent to the bottom without warning.

Consul Frost reported that the Cymric was in "admiralty service." This presented fresh complications. If it is true the liner has been taken over by the admiralty and was therefore a ship of war, the United States would have no concern in the attack made upon her. On the contrary it was pointed out customs officials in the port of New York would not have granted clearance to a ship engaged in an unneutral mission.

The White Star line Company this afternoon denied that the liner Cymric was in the admiralty service. She had been withdrawn from use as a passenger ship a few weeks ago, it was stated, and was used as a freighter.

LIEUT. IMMELMANN IS CALLED HERO OF AERIAL CORPS

Uses Falconish Methods in Destroying French Planes On the Verdun Front

London, May 9.—The war has developed the "human falcon."

Aerial fighters and aeronautical experts throughout Europe today are discussing Germany's super-hawk, Lieutenant Immelmann.

Advices just received in England from the vicinity of Lille, France, and from Germany tell for the first time the falconish methods of the champion Teutonic Fokker Flyer whose total bag to date is officially announced as fifteen allied aeroplanes.

Immelmann's secret of offensive air fighting is extremely simple. He sights his quarry—an Allied aeroplane bent on reconnaissance duty or aerial photography, somewhere over the German lines near Lille. The Falcon leaves the ground and wings to a great height, an altitude of 13,000 feet or more.

When he has maneuvered over his adversary, he sets his planes and makes one long, terrific downward swoop. The plan is to pass diagonally behind his opponent at the rate of perhaps 200 miles an hour. His machine gun is primed and ready. When he enters a prescribed area the bullets begin to fly.

Just like the falcon, that member of the hawk family which tries once and strikes it mark or misses, Immelmann either bags his "bird" or swoops or wings back to his own camp a failure. He never returns to the attack. He empties one drum of bullets and, hit or miss, continues his dive until it takes him home.

In Germany Immelmann is a national hero. He is called "The Eagle of Lille."

More graphic details of Immelmann's method of attack are being furnished by the German press.

Immelmann's method of attack is described in a report from the German press. It is said that he is a product of the British Flying school.

President Emphatically Rejects Condition Implied In German Note

Following is the text of the note cabled today by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the imperial German government under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted, as indicating the purpose of the utmost to confine the operation of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the government of the United States has insisted.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on February 1, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives of friendship in its patient efforts to bring to an amicable settlement the critical questions arising from that policy.

"Accepting the imperial government's declaration of its abandonment of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations between the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous execution henceforth of the now altered policy of the imperial government such as will remove the principal danger to an interruption of the good relations existing between the United States and Germany.

"The government of the United States feels it necessary to state that it takes it for granted that the imperial government does not intend to imply that the maintenance of its newly announced policy is in any way contingent upon the course or result of diplomatic negotiations between the government of the United States and any other belligerent government, notwithstanding the fact that certain passages in the imperial government's note of the 4th instant might appear to be susceptible of that construction.

In order, however, to avoid any possible misunderstanding, the government of the United States notifies the imperial government that it cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion that respect for German naval authorities for the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas should in any way or in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. Responsibility in such matters is single, not joint; absolute, not relative."

Cabinet Officers Who Must Make Next Diplomatic Move

1—Secretary Redfield. 2—Attorney General Gregory. 3—Secretary Lansing. 4—Secretary Daniels. 5—Secretary Lane. 6—Secretary Wilson. 7—Secretary Baker.

This is the latest view of seven members of the cabinet of the President of the United States, before which there is now the momentous question of the German submarine policy. Secretary McAdoo and Houston and Postmaster General Barleson are not in the picture.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 9, 1916

Man alive! This kind of weather makes a fellow want to take off his shoes and "go wadin'!"

The latest note to the Kaiser will sound "short and sweet" to the average American, the sweetness of it being its terse language.

WITH THEODORE ON THE LID

Not a few sincere admirers of Theodore Roosevelt are thankful that the aggressive Colonel is a private citizen instead the President of the United States of America. They are convinced that had he been at the head of the government we long since would have severed our relations with Germany and become embroiled in the war.

Not so, O gentle disciples of our own William the Great. Were Theodore Roosevelt President of these United States, we would be much farther from war than we are at this moment as a result of acts which Germany knows would not have been tolerated for a moment by the Tempestuous Theodore.

Our contact with kultur would have ended abruptly with the Frye case, for Roosevelt would have found in that unwarranted destruction of an American merchantman the opportunity to make the position of the United States unmistakably clear to Germany. And what is more, Germany would have understood what was meant that she should understand, and there would have been no Gulfstream or Lusitania outrages upon the dignity of our nation. She would have known that respect for the American flag and for American lives would be compelled, and that she was dealing with a man of more action than words.

No man finds fault with President Wilson's desire to keep this country out of war. We have no lives to sacrifice, no treasure to spend, in helping to stem the tide of Germany's mad effort to impose her brand of civilization upon Europe. And neither have we lives to sacrifice upon the altar of peace, even tho the requiem being sung in diplomatic equivocations. An ultimatum of a great nation, handed down by a man of force and action, would have brought the kultur-murderers to an immediate halt.

Roosevelt would have issued that ultimatum last March.—From The Progress, May 25, 1915.

It is not in criticism of the President that this article is reprinted. Rather it is to illustrate the word of commendation which we cheerfully speak for him as the author of yesterday's note to the Kaiser. That document smacks of the kind of force that Roosevelt would have employed. It stands the people of the U. S. upon their feet, gives them the courage of their convictions, and goes far toward reestablishing for them some of the self-respect which has been shattered and wasted through fruitless months of quibbling. We repeat that Roosevelt would have brought our disputes with Germany to a quick termination, and he would have brought us no nearer to war than the President has by his lack of firmness. An even more desirable speculation is that Roosevelt would have preserved our dignity and self-respect, too.

Vagabonds In Bellevue Are Put To Work Cleaning Up The Town

Bellevue, O., May 9.—(By United Press)—If you have tramps or vagabonds you don't want just put them on the train for Bellevue. They'll be cheerfully received. The new official system here makes the advent of few "hoses" a joyous occasion.

The bum is a municipal asset to Bellevue. Here are a few of the things they have done for this town of 6,000 souls:

Polished the streets; carried off the rubbish from every back yard; put the baseball diamond in fine condition and started a sewer system for the city. After the sewer is completed they'll be put to work paving new streets.

The nice thing about it all, the bums do these things willingly, cheerfully—after they've seen the stone pile. They are given their choice of the two.

Take the case of Banjo Charlie, who recently swung off a side door yppelman. While looking for the "welcome" chalk mark on a gate post or back-door, he was greeted by Chief of Police Charles Buckland, who said cheerily:

"Come right up to the city hall and register. Glad to see you."

Banjo Charlie followed the line of least resistance.

"Want you to meet our mayor," said Buckland.

"Good morning, judge," said Charlie suspiciously.

"Good morning," responded Mayor H. C. Aurnand, pleasantly. "Five and costs."

Then the new arrival got his first line of Bellevue's hospitality. He was walked into the combination jail, dining hall and kitchen.

"Here's the makin'," said Chief Buckland, thrusting into Charlie's paw some eggs, bacon and a skillet. A small stove was in the corner.

"I gotta get my own breakfast," growled Charlie, provoked.

"You certainly do," said Buckland. "You'll be doing lots of things for yourself before you leave."

After breakfast Charlie was led to the stone pile, a ball and chain added to his leg and a heavy sledge placed on his lands.

"Would you mind sweeping a little mud off our streets this morning?" Charlie was asked, casually.

"I'd dearly love to," was the prompt response.

All tramps are given eleven days as soon as apprehended. They are required to do their own cooking. Vags are allowed to sell junk gleaned from the rubbish carted away, and keep the money.

F. C. BANCROFT CELEBRATES 70TH ANNIVERSARY TODAY

General Business Manager of Reds
Oldest Veteran of Baseball

Clearfield, O., May 9.—F. C. Bancroft, the general business manager of the Reds, celebrated today the seventy-seventh anniversary of his birth. He was born in Uniontown, Pa., May 9, 1839. At the age of 15, he enlisted in a volunteer company in the Northern army and served with credit until the close of the war.

Upon his return from the "Great Campaign" he took up his residence in New Bedford, Mass., where he became proprietor of a hotel. In 1871 the baseball war broke out and he and those that the diamond sport was the life for him. His first baseball venture, the New Bedford club, proved a fiasco, but that didn't cause him to even consider it. He kept plugging away, until in 1879 he landed a berth as manager of the Worcester team, then a member of the International League. In 1881 he became manager of the Detroit Nationals. After two years he joined the Tigers he took up the burden of managing the Cleveland team. The next year he went to Providence and put the Rhode Island City on the baseball map for which the National League picked, after which he took his team to New York and won the first world's series ever played, defeating the Metropolitan three games in a row.

Bancroft remained in Providence until 1886, when he took charge of the Rochester team. After a season with Rochester he organized an opera company, with which he toured the country successfully for several years. In 1890 he returned to baseball as business manager of the Indianapolis National League team. The following year he was with the St. Louis club of the American association. In 1892 "Fanny" returned to his first love, the National League, and assumed the duties of business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, a position he still holds. Twenty-four years with the Reds is certainly some record.

Bright and clean and overflowing with genuine acts of worth-while quality, La Tena's Big Wild Animal circus played to capacity crowds here yesterday, pleasing young and old alike, with its excellent program of novel numbers more than one of which would have done credit to a much more pretentious show. Everything about the show was clean and well regulated, the costuming and staging of the various acts was beyond reproach and the entire outfit proved one of even quality and considerable merit.

It was Davenport's second taste of circus entertainment this season and the show offered by the La Tena outfit was so far in advance of that given here by Wheeler Bros. last week that no comparison is possible. Both in the quality of the program and in the show, La Tena's circus proved a genuine credit to the show business as a whole.

One way to know Twin Cylinder motor efficiency—POWERPLUS, the new Indian motor.

It alone embodies those standards of quietness, cleanliness, power, and speed which advance motorcycling to its highest degree of perfection.

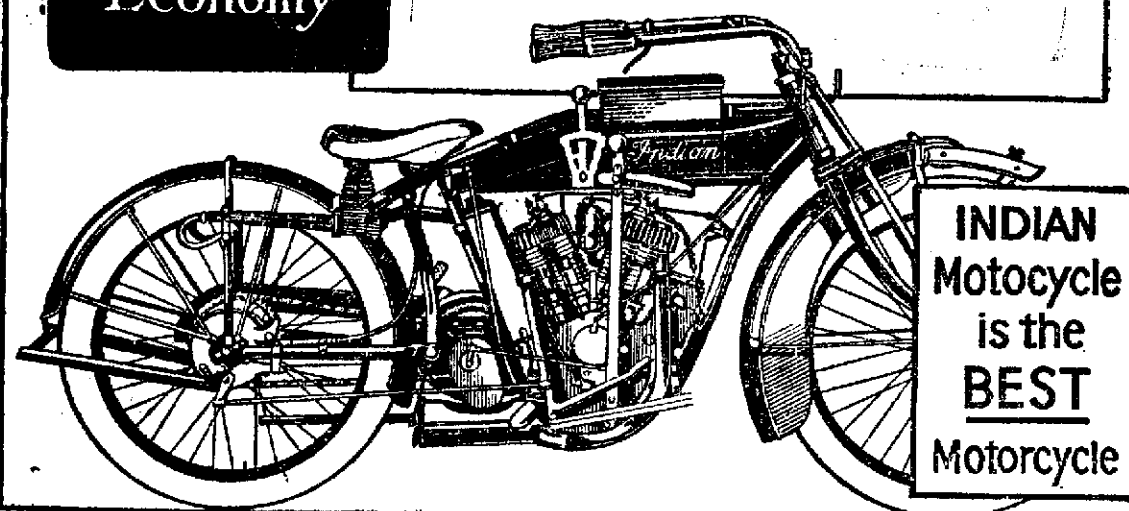

The Powerplus motor develops more horse power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other stock motor. Without "tuning up," any stock Powerplus develops 15 to 18 horse power, per dynamometer test, and a speed of approximately 70 miles an hour.

Long stroke, light reciprocating parts and minimum friction give the Powerplus its unmatched power. Accuracy of design makes oil-tightness absolute. It has the fastest pickup known—from standstill to 60 miles an hour in 30 seconds!

You must see the Powerplus to appreciate its ease of control, its steady, silent generating force, its many super-qualities.

Come in TODAY and ask us to explain why the Powerplus motor is head and shoulders above any motor of its kind—why the 1916 Indian is the highest development of motorcycle creative genius.

SPORT NOTES

It may be a wide open race in the National league this season, but John McGraw doesn't believe it.

As a continuous performer, Duke Kahanamoku, the Honolulu merman, is in the same set with Blatting Levisky, the boxer.

The Jack Dillon-Batting Levisky league is proving to be a winner. The two boxers have mugged in three bouts which drew a total of $29,000.

A big league team that scores 40 runs in a week will bear watching. The Cleveland Indians copped that number of runs during the last week of April.

Initial contests in the American association showed that the A. A. is a well-balanced organization. Four teams won and a like number lost.

Abe Attell, former champion featherweight, is conducting a shoe store in New York. Although he is a glove expert Abe figures there is more money in shoes.

T. A. D. Jones, '08S, the new football coach at Yale, was a Yale gridder once himself under the name of "Tad" Jones. Harvard well remembers him.

Fortune may have smiled on the Cincinnati Reds this season, but of what use are two hard-hitting first sackers when only one can play at a time.

Champion Freddie Welsh says he will retire from the roped arena July 7, 1916. Will all the lighties who hold decisions over Freddie become champions on July 8?

A pitcher in the South Atlantic league jumped his team the other day. Most likely he hadn't heard the Federal league had been caught.

Present-day boxers are not alone in taking down the big money. Joe Stecher gets a bigger chunk of coin for meeting "ham" grapplers than was handed old-time wrestlers for championship matches.

Much praise is being handed Henry Berry, the Penn runner, for running 1,500 meters in fast time at Philadelphia. But Berry is not the only pippin when it comes to running fast meters. Take a slant at the gas bill.

Little interest is manifested in football at Harvard this spring, while at New Haven a hundred Yale gridiron candidates are at work. Looks as if Pills were out for a killing this year.

Fred Fulton received $6,000 for mugging up Al Reich. That's more money than Fulton earned in a whole month when he was a member of the Minneapolis police force.

Now that we have learned that the popular price to soccer games in London is 12 cents we understand why ten-cent baseball failed in this country. Twelve cents would have caught the bargain hunters.

SOLDIERS NOW WRITE THEIR LETTERS WITH BULLETS

Columbus, N. M., May 9.—(By United Press)—One of the hundreds of American soldier boys are using to write letters to their wives, mothers or sweethearts may later kill Villa or some other Mexican bandit. The soldiers write most of their letters with bullets, on the cardboard ends of shoe boxes. Pens, pencils and stationery are among the equipment abandoned by the expedition, so it could travel light and fast.

Several of the shoe box letters state that these are "written with the bullet that's going to kill Villa. The shoe box letters are delivered unstamped, as postal cards. A big bag full of them arrives here every few days by aeroplane.

New York, May 9.—(By United Press)—For the benefit of the 20,000 clubwomen who will attend the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs here May 23 to June 2, one hundred women doctors and as many more nurses are on the emergency staff, under the direction of Dr. Rosalie S. Morton, and they will minister to all the ills a clubwoman is heir to.

Two stations, each under two doctors and a trained nurse, will be open at all hours in the Seventh Regiment armory. Stations will be maintained continually at the Hotel Astor, official headquarters and other hotels. Hospital rooms at the armory and at the hotels will be part of the equipment.

A good deal of attention will be paid to the subject of dress. All delegates have been advised to dress simply and to avoid extremes. On the convention floor no hats at all will be worn. At one of the evening sessions Miss Jane Fuls of Teachers' college, assisted by twenty living models, will show the history of costume.

However, Mrs. Percy V. Pennington, president of the federation, advises every woman to wear her best clothes at the convention, and prophesies that even the small town delegate will be up to the minute in style. So the strict simplicity shouldn't be taken too literally.

$1.00 New White Wash Skirts, good value at 68 cents, also large assortment at $1.25 and $1.50, bargains at $2.45, at McCall's.

RIGGS BANK CASE GOES TO TRIAL IN WASHINGTON

Bank Officials Are Charged With Perjury by Government

Washington, May 8.—(By United Press)—With the leading legal lights of New York and Washington as advocates and bankers throughout the country as audience, the famous Riggs bank case came to trial here today.

Charles C. Glover, president; William J. Flather, vice-president, and Harry H. Flather, former cashier of the Riggs National bank are answering the charge of perjury in the District supreme court.

The three men are charged with testifying falsely that the Riggs bank did not engage in stock transactions.

Back of the case is the fact that has raged for a year, or since the Riggs bank officials charged Secretary of the Treasury McVey, John Shanton Williams, Comptroller of the currency and some other treasury officials with conspiring to wreck the bank.

The bank officials plead that the stock transactions were in the name of John J. Johnson & company, in the name of the bank were those of the bank's customers.

Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for the treasury officials in the case, today said it was expected to last in an advisory capacity to U. S. Attorney Lusk, present in.

For the bank officials, the star witnesses are lawyers of Washington are today.

The fight between Williams and the bank officials has been bitter. Charges of perjury, bad faith and general unscrupulousness have flown back and forth between them ever since the spring of 1915.

Upon the refusal of the officials or their resignation hangs the renewal of the charter of the Riggs bank—one of the oldest and strongest outside of New York. Williams has hinted that he will not renew the charter if the present officers remain in charge unless they are freed of the perjury charge against them.

It is possible the trial will not be over before the present charter of the bank expires July 1.

The government charges 102 items of stock dealing by the bank. The fact that the company with which the transactions allegedly were made was a bankrupt was another angle expected to be unfolded.

The fact that the trial started today was a defeat for the bank officials, who tried to have it postponed on the ground that the trial would be a waste of time for the government of the charter.

Militia of 3 States Called Out For Duty On Mexican Border

Cabinet Refuses To Grant Obregon's Demand That Time Limit be Placed On Troops Stay In Mexico

CONFERENCE IS PROBABLY AT AN END

BY E. T. KUNKLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
El Paso, May 9.—Admitting the Mexican situation has suddenly become grave, Major General Funston planned today to return at once to San Antonio to direct the militia of the three states which are ordered out for patrol duty.

Funston declined to comment on the reported ultimatum demanding withdrawal of American troops from Mexico and threatening attack on the American troops by Carranza forces, if they remained. "I can say nothing," Funston declared. "We are pledged to secrecy." Funston may be able to leave for San Antonio late this afternoon. He will discuss military matters with General Scott before going.

Carranza War Minister Obregon has 35,000 men in strategic positions in northern Mexico. No secret was made of the fact that conditions today are more threatening than at any other time since the negotiations began.

Washington, May 9.—Secretary of War Baker today announced that he had issued orders for the calling out of the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. Baker declared the outbreak of Mexican raids in the Big Ben country of Texas has so far further emphasized the danger of similar occurrences on the border that he deemed it necessary to enlarge the forces.

Baker issued the following statement immediately after the announcement: "The outbreak in the Big Ben district of the Rio Grande has so far further emphasized the danger of similar occurrences along our long border that the President has called out the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico and has directed them to report to General Funston who will assign them stations along the border for patrol duty."

In addition to the militia the following infantry are ordered to the border: Thirtieth, "Flaxburg," N. Y.; Third, Madison Barracks, Oswego, N. Y.; Twenty-first, Vancouver, Wash.; Fourteenth, Fort Lawton, Wash. The militia of the three states drawn upon numbers about 4,000 men.

Secretary Baker declined to say whether the new orders were the result of General Scott's message concerning the first conference. Baker declared it was based on recommendations from Scott and Funston as the result of the Big Ben raid. He would neither affirm or deny that Obregon had demanded the withdrawal of the troops under the penalty of a clash between them and Carranza forces.

The raid on Glenn Springs, Texas which resulted in the death of three troopers and one civilian was organized in the United States, Mexican Ambassador Arredondo engaged in a conference with Secretary Lansing today. The Carranza representative named J. Villalaz formerly a Villa general as the principal agitator responsible for border raids.

Arredondo said he had no knowledge of any further request of Obregon or any Mexican official that the United States troops be withdrawn. All he knew he said was that General Obregon and Scott are still conference.

Arredondo urged that a larger body of American troops be sent to the American side of the line to guard the territory and to watch American conspirators who are endeavoring to stir up mutiny among the Carranza troops and to inflame border raids. It was announced that Secretary Lansing would take up the charges at once with Secretary Baker.

Obregon Demands Time Limit
General Obregon has demanded that a time limit be set upon the stay of United States troops in Mexico. The United States government will refuse positively to submit to any such limits, it was decided at today's cabinet meeting. The government's policy will be to continue to refuse to make a time limit.

Generals Scott and Obregon are expected to have one more conference at least. Word of Obregon's demand was transmitted here by General Scott. He expected to file another message presumably after a conference today. Reports that Obregon had threatened to use Carranza troops against American soldiers if they remained in Mexico were said not to be "exact" though stories bearing on this were said to be not without foundation.

WHAT WE NEED AT HARRISBURG

It may not be necessary again to protest that the Progress is not opposed to local option because it is not for local option. The distinction is not even a fine one, yet many people are unwilling, or unable, to understand how it is possible not to be against a thing if not wholeheartedly for it.

Also, it may not be necessary for this paper to reiterate that in supporting Americus H. Woodward and Harry Boulton for nomination for the general assembly, it considers it necessary to wage war on the other Republican candidates, some of whom are endorsed by the temperance forces of the county solely for the reason that they publicly pledge their support to local option.

What this paper is fighting for—what the Citizens' Committee is fighting for—is the nomination of men for the general assembly who are big men, out of the ordinary men, men of character and force and ability who will be able to take their places in the high councils of the assembly instead of flitting around the outskirts and devoting their whole thought to picking off an item or two of personal patronage here and there.

This country needs men in the assembly, whether they are Republicans, Democrats, Progressives, Socialists, Local Optionists, or what-not. We cannot afford longer to cleave blindly to a cause without thought of the ability of the men who present themselves to serve the cause. We cannot afford longer to accept as sufficient the moral comfort such support gives us, and ignore the larger facts of existence which affect not only our morals, but the economic and social conditions which underlie them.

The Progress does not know whether Woodward and Boulton are for or against local option—and does not care. What it does know is that both men are admirably equipped, mentally, morally and in every other way, to render faithful and efficient service to this county, further than which it does not even care to inquire.

In behalf of the candidacy of Woodward and Boulton, the Progress makes bold to urge this thought: They are of the timber—"calibre," if you will—we so urgently need. They are honest, four-square on all matters affecting the interests of the County, and of metal capacity to think for themselves. More than that is hard to find in any man.

freda Recant, one of the commanders of the northern military zone of Mexico, arrived today at Laredo with his staff in a special train. He announced he was on a "military visit" but refused to say whether his trip had any connection with the request of the defunct government for the withdrawal of the American expedition, from Mexico.

El Paso, Tex., May 9. (By United Press.)—General Scott sent O. T. Brown, war department agent, to Jaurez to arrange for a conference late today. It was learned definitely that General Obregon did not present an ultimatum in last night's conference with Scott. He did, however, refuse to sign the agreement unless concessions regarding the withdrawal of the expedition were incorporated in it.

FINED FOR SHIPPING VENISON THROUGH MAILED

Daniel C. Conder, a lumberman, of Union township, Huntingdon, was fined $100 at a hearing before Justice David S. Black on a charge of attempting to mail a haunch of venison by parcel post from Manlinton depot. When asked by Postmaster Bruce Yeum what the package contained Conder said to have replied that it was merchandise. When Conder left the office Yeum's suspicions were confirmed when he examined the parcel and found the venison. Conder was prosecuted by Seth E. Gordon secretary of the state game commission and came within a hair of taking an appeal to court.

SINKING OF THE CYMRIC MAY TEST NEW SUB POLICY

Act Giving Officialdom Real Concern—Consul Says Boat Was in Admiralty

Fresh Complications
State Liner was Sent to Bottom Without Warning—Five of Crew Drowned.

Washington, May 9. (By United Press.)—Berlin's new submarine policy may already have been put to the test by one of Germany's submarine commanders. The sinking of the White Star liner Cymric, concerned in press dispatches today was giving officialdom real concern.

It was stated that if the vessel was sunk without warning the act constituted a breach of the new policy whether Americans were on board or not.

Late dispatches from United States Consul Frost, at Queenstown, said that five of the Cymric's crew were killed when the torpedo hit the engine room. He said in his message that the inference to be drawn was that the Cymric was sent to the bottom without warning.

Consul Frost reported that the Cymric was in "admiralty service." This presented fresh complications. If it is true the liner has been taken over by the admiralty and was therefore a ship of war, the United States would have no concern in the attack made upon her. On the contrary it was pointed out customs officials in the port of New York would not have granted clearance to a ship engaged in an unneutral mission.

The White Star line Company this afternoon denied that the liner Cymric was in the admiralty service. She had been withdrawn from use as a passenger ship a few weeks ago, it was stated, and was used as a freighter.

LIEUT. IMMELMANN IS CALLED HERO OF AERIAL CORPS

Uses Falconish Methods in Destroying French Planes On the Verdun Front

London, May 9.—The war has developed the "human falcon."

Aerial fighters and aeronautical experts throughout Europe today are discussing Germany's super-hawk, Lieutenant Immelmann.

Advices just received in England from the vicinity of Lille, France, and from Germany tell for the first time the falconish methods of the champion Teutonic Fokker Flyer whose total bag to date is officially announced as fifteen allied aeroplanes.

Immelmann's secret of offensive air fighting is extremely simple. He sights his quarry—an Allied aeroplane bent on reconnaissance duty or aerial photography, somewhere over the German lines near Lille. The Falcon leaves the ground and wings to a great height, an altitude of 13,000 feet or more.

When he has maneuvered over his adversary, he sets his planes and makes one long, terrific downward swoop. The plan is to pass diagonally behind his opponent at the rate of perhaps 200 miles an hour. His machine gun is primed and ready. When he enters a prescribed area the bullets begin to fly.

Just like the falcon, that member of the hawk family which tries once and strikes it mark or misses, Immelmann either bags his "bird" at a swoop or wings back to his own camp a failure. He never returns to the attack. He empties one drum of bullets and, hit or miss, continues his dive until it takes him home.

In Germany Immelmann is a national hero. He is called "The Eagle of Lille."

More graphic details of Immelmann's method of attack are being furnished by the German press.

Immelmann's method of attack is described as follows: "The German aviator, after having ascended to a great height, circles his prey and then swoops down upon it, firing his machine gun as he does so. He is called 'The Eagle of Lille' because he has destroyed so many French aeroplanes in the vicinity of that city."

Throughout that time the German aviator continued his steady fire. Slade's clothing was riddled with lead but with his injured right arm he maneuvered his machine toward earth and made a perilous landing. Immelmann, by this time, had winged out of range, and, performing a circle, he landed his machine to render what assistance he could. Lieutenant Slade's letter described how the German aviator behaved in such a kindly manner toward his captives that he won their admiration. The letter concludes: "He is a gentleman, and if we ever capture him, I hope he will be treated as such."

President Emphatically Rejects Condition Implied In German Note

Following is the text of the note cabled today by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, with instructions to deliver it to the German minister of foreign affairs:

"The note of the imperial German government under date of May 4, 1916, has received careful consideration by the government of the United States. It is especially noted, as indicating the purpose of the utmost to confine the operation of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the government of the United States has insisted."

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the imperial government announced on February 1, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives of friendship in its patient efforts to bring to an amicable settlement the critical questions arising from that policy."

"Accepting the imperial government's declaration of its abandonment of the policy which has so seriously menaced the good relations between the two countries, the government of the United States will rely upon a scrupulous execution henceforth of the now altered policy of the imperial government such as will remove the principal danger to an interruption of the good relations existing between the United States and Germany."

"The government of the United States feels it necessary to state that it takes it for granted that the imperial government does not intend to imply that the maintenance of its newly announced policy is in any way contingent upon the course or result of diplomatic negotiations between the government of the United States and any other belligerent government, notwithstanding the fact that certain passages in the imperial government's note of the 4th instant might appear to be susceptible of that construction."

In order, however, to avoid any possible misunderstanding, the government of the United States notifies the imperial government that it cannot for a moment entertain, much less discuss, a suggestion that respect for German naval authorities for the rights of citizens of the United States upon the high seas should in any way or in the slightest degree be made contingent upon the conduct of any other government affecting the rights of neutrals and non-combatants. Responsibility in such matters is single, not joint; absolute, not relative."

Cabinet Officers Who Must Make Next Diplomatic Move

1—Secretary Redfield. 2—Attorney General Gregory. 3—Secretary Lansing. 4—Secretary Daniels. 5—Secretary Lane. 6—Secretary Wilson. 7—Secretary Baker.

This is the latest view of seven members of the cabinet of the President of the United States, before which there is now the momentous question of the German submarine policy. Secretary McAdoo and Houston and Postmaster General Barleson are not in the picture.

TUESDAY EVENING, MAY 9, 1916

Man alive! This kind of weather makes a fellow want to take off his shoes and "go wadin'!"

The latest note to the Kaiser will sound "short and sweet" to the average American, the sweetness of it being its terse language.

WITH THEODORE ON THE LID

Not a few sincere admirers of Theodore Roosevelt are thankful that the aggressive Colonel is a private citizen instead the President of the United States of America. They are convinced that had he been at the head of the government we long since would have severed our relations with Germany and become embroiled in the war.

Not so, O gentle disciples of our own William the Great. Were Theodore Roosevelt President of these United States, we would be much farther from war than we are at this moment as a result of acts which Germany knows would not have been tolerated for a moment by the Tempestuous Theodore.

Our contact with kultur would have ended abruptly with the Frye case, for Roosevelt would have found in that unwarranted destruction of an American merchantman the opportunity to make the position of the United States unmistakably clear to Germany. And what is more, Germany would have understood what was meant that she should understand, and there would have been no Gulfstream or Lusitania outrages upon the dignity of our nation. She would have known that respect for the American flag and for American lives would be compelled, and that she was dealing with a man of more action than words.

No man finds fault with President Wilson's desire to keep this country out of war. We have no lives to sacrifice, no treasure to spend, in helping to stem the tide of Germany's mad effort to impose her brand of civilization upon Europe. And neither have we lives to sacrifice upon the altar of peace, even tho the requiem being sung in diplomatic equivocations. An ultimatum of a great nation, handed down by a man of force and action, would have brought the kultur-murderers to an immediate halt.

Roosevelt would have issued that ultimatum last March.—From The Progress, May 25, 1915.

It is not in criticism of the President that this article is reprinted. Rather it is to illustrate the word of commendation which we cheerfully speak for him as the author of yesterday's note to the Kaiser. That document smacks of the kind of force that Roosevelt would have employed. It stands the people of the U. S. upon their feet, gives them the courage of their convictions, and goes far toward reestablishing for them some of the self-respect which has been shattered and wasted through fruitless months of quibbling. We repeat that Roosevelt would have brought our disputes with Germany to a quick termination, and he would have brought us no nearer to war than the President has by his lack of firmness. An even more desirable speculation is that Roosevelt would have preserved our dignity and self-respect, too.

Vagabonds In Bellevue Are Put To Work Cleaning Up The Town

Bellevue, O., May 9.—(By United Press)—If you have tramps or vagabonds you don't want just put them on the train for Bellevue. They'll be cheerfully received. The new official system here makes the advent of few "hoses" a joyous occasion.

The bum is a municipal asset to Bellevue. Here are a few of the things they have done for this town of 6,000 souls:

Polished the streets; carried off the rubbish from every back yard; put the baseball diamond in fine condition and started a sewer system for the city. After the sewer is completed they'll be put to work paving new streets.

The nice thing about it all, the bums do these things willingly, cheerfully—after they've seen the stone pile. They are given their choice of the two.

Take the case of Banjo Charlie, who recently swung off a side door poplin. While looking for the "welcome" chalk mark on a gate post or back-door, he was greeted by Chief of Police Charles Buckland, who said cheerily:

"Come right up to the city hall and register. Glad to see you."

Banjo Charlie followed the line of least resistance.

"Want you to meet our mayor," said Buckland.

"Good morning, judge," said Charlie suspiciously.

"Good morning," responded Mayor H. C. Aurnand, pleasantly. "Five and costs."

Then the new arrival got his first line of Bellevue's hospitality. He was walked into the combination jail, dining hall and kitchen.

"Here's the makin'," said Chief Buckland, thrusting into Charlie's paw some eggs, bacon and a skillet. A small stove was in the corner.

"I gotta get my own breakfast," growled Charlie, provoked.

"You certainly do," said Buckland. "You'll be doing lots of things for yourself before you leave."

After breakfast Charlie was led to the stone pile, a ball and chain added to his leg and a heavy sledge placed on his lands.

"Would you mind sweeping a little mud off our streets this morning?" Charlie was asked, casually.

"I'd dearly love to," was the prompt response.

All tramps are given eleven days as soon as apprehended. They are required to do their own cooking. Vags are allowed to sell junk gleaned from the rubbish carted away, and keep the money.

F. C. BANCROFT CELEBRATES 70TH ANNIVERSARY TODAY

General Business Manager of Reds
Oldest Veteran of Baseball

Clearfield, O., May 9.—F. C. Bancroft, the general business manager of the Reds, celebrated today the seventy-seventh anniversary of his birth. He was born in Uniontown, Pa., May 9, 1839. At the age of 15, he enlisted in a volunteer company in the Northern army and served with credit until the close of the war.

Upon his return from the "Great Campaign" he took up his residence in New Bedford, Mass., where he became proprietor of a hotel. In 1871 the baseball war broke out and he was one of those who decided that the diamond sport was the life for him. His first baseball venture, the New Bedford club, proved a fiasco, but that didn't cause him to even consider it. He kept plugging away, until in 1879 he landed a berth as manager of the Worcester team, then a member of the International League. In 1881 he became manager of the Detroit Nationals. After two years he joined the Tigers he took up the burden of managing the Cleveland team. The next year he went to Providence and put the Rhode Island City on the baseball map by winning the National League pennant, after which he took his team to New York and won the first world's series ever played, defeating the Metropolitan three games in a row.

Bancroft remained in Providence until 1886, when he took charge of the Rochester team. After a season with Rochester he organized an opera company, with which he toured the country successfully for several years. In 1890 he returned to baseball as business manager of the Indianapolis National League team. The following year he was with the St. Louis club of the American association. In 1892 "Fanny" returned to his first love, the National League, and assumed the duties of business manager of the Cincinnati Reds, a position he still holds. Twenty-four years with the Reds is certainly some record.

REAL CIRCUS SEEN AT RIVER STREET GROUNDS

La Tena's Show Proves itself First Class Attraction in Every Way

Bright and clean and overflowing with genuine acts of worth-while quality, La Tena's Big Wild Animal circus played to capacity crowds here yesterday, pleasing young and old alike, with its excellent program of novel numbers more than one of which would have done credit to a much more pretentious show. Everything about the show was clean and well regulated, the costuming and staging of the various acts was beyond reproach and the entire outfit proved one of even quality and considerable merit.

It was Davenport's second taste of circus entertainment this season and the show offered by the La Tena outfit was so far in advance of that given here by Wheeler Bros. last week that no comparison is possible. Both in the quality of the program and in the show, La Tena's circus proved a genuine credit to the show business as a whole.

One way to know Twin Cylinder motor efficiency—POWERPLUS, the new Indian motor.

It alone embodies those standards of quietness, cleanliness, power, and speed which advance motorcycling to its highest degree of perfection.

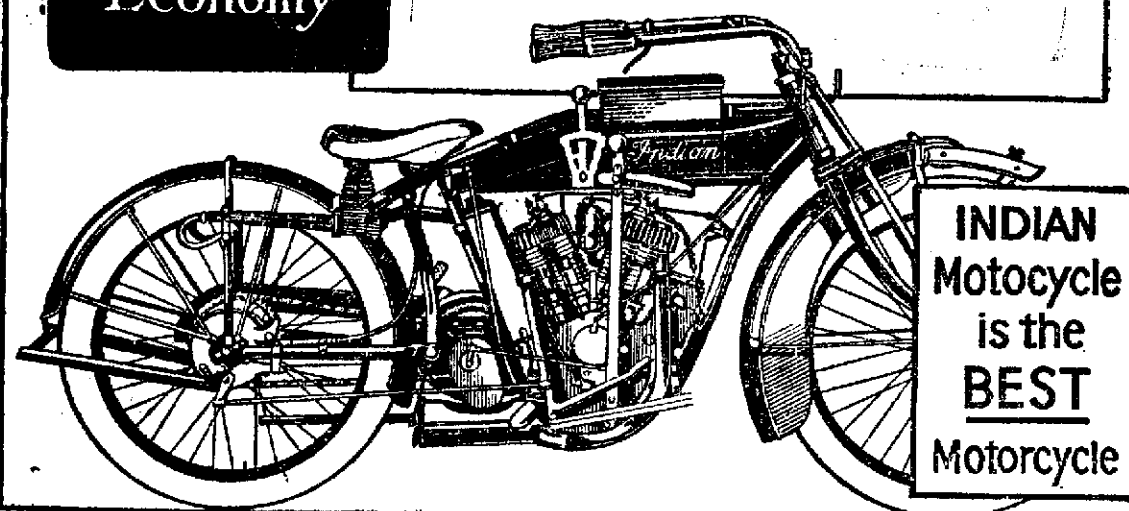

The Powerplus motor develops more horse power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other stock motor. Without "tuning up," any stock Powerplus develops 15 to 18 horse power, per dynamometer test, and a speed of approximately 70 miles an hour.

Long stroke, light reciprocating parts and minimum friction give the Powerplus its unmatched power. Accuracy of design makes oil-tightness absolute. It has the fastest pickup known—from standstill to 60 miles an hour in 30 seconds!

You must see the Powerplus to appreciate its ease of control, its steady, silent generating force, its many super-qualities.

Come in TODAY and ask us to explain why the Powerplus motor is head and shoulders above any motor of its kind—why the 1916 Indian is the highest development of motorcycle creative genius.

SPORT NOTES

It may be a wide open race in the National league this season, but John McGraw doesn't believe it.

As a continuous performer, Duke Kahanamoku, the Honolulu merman, is in the same set with Blatting Levisky, the boxer.

The Jack Dillon-Batting Levisky league is proving to be a winner. The two boxers have mugged in three bouts which drew a total of $29,000.

A big league team that scores 40 runs in a week will bear watching. The Cleveland Indians copped that number of runs during the last week of April.

Initial contests in the American association showed that the A. A. is a well-balanced organization. Four teams won and a like number lost.

Abe Attell, former champion featherweight, is conducting a shoe store in New York. Although he is a glove expert Abe figures there is more money in shoes.

T. A. D. Jones, '08S, the new football coach at Yale, was a Yale gridder once himself under the name of "Tad" Jones. Harvard well remembers him.

Fortune may have smiled on the Cincinnati Reds this season, but of what use are two hard-hitting first sackers when only one can play at a time.

Champion Freddie Welsh says he will retire from the roped arena July 7, 1916. Will all the lighties who hold decisions over Freddie become champions on July 8?

A pitcher in the South Atlantic league jumped his team the other day. Most likely he hadn't heard the Federal league had been caught.

Present-day boxers are not alone in taking down the big money. Joe Stecher gets a bigger chunk of coin for meeting "ham" grapplers than was handed old-time wrestlers for championship matches.

Much praise is being handed Henry Berry, the Penn runner, for running 1,500 meters in fast time at Philadelphia. But Berry is not the only pippin when it comes to running fast meters. Take a slant at the gas bill.

Little interest is manifested in football at Harvard this spring, while at New Haven a hundred Yale gridiron candidates are at work. Looks as if Pills were out for a killing this year.

Fred Fulton received $6,000 for mugging up Al Reich. That's more money than Fulton earned in a whole month when he was a member of the Minneapolis police force.

Now that we have learned that the popular price to soccer games in London is 12 cents we understand why ten-cent baseball failed in this country. Twelve cents would have caught the bargain hunters.

SOLDIERS NOW WRITE THEIR LETTERS WITH BULLETS

Columbus, N. M., May 9.—(By United Press)—One of the hundreds of American soldier boys are using to write letters to their wives, mothers or sweethearts may later kill Villa or some other Mexican bandit. The soldiers write most of their letters with bullets, on the cardboard ends of shoe boxes. Pens, pencils and stationery are among the equipment abandoned by the expedition, so it could travel light and fast.

Several of the shoe box letters state that these are "written with the bullet that's going to kill Villa. The shoe box letters are delivered unstamped, as postal cards. A big bag full of them arrives here every few days by aeroplane.

New York, May 9.—(By United Press)—For the benefit of the 20,000 clubwomen who will attend the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs here May 23 to June 2, one hundred women doctors and as many more nurses are on the emergency staff, under the direction of Dr. Rosalie S. Morton, and they will minister to all the ills a clubwoman is heir to.

Two stations, each under two doctors and a trained nurse, will be open at all hours in the Seventh Regiment armory. Stations will be maintained continually at the Hotel Astor, official headquarters and other hotels. Hospital rooms at the armory and at the hotels will be part of the equipment.

A good deal of attention will be paid to the subject of dress. All delegates have been advised to dress simply and to avoid extremes. On the convention floor no hats at all will be worn. At one of the evening sessions Miss Jane Fuls of Teachers' college, assisted by twenty living models, will show the history of costume.

However, Mrs. Percy V. Pennington, president of the federation, advises every woman to wear her best clothes at the convention, and prophesies that even the small town delegate will be up to the minute in style. So the strict simplicity shouldn't be taken too literally.

$1.00 New White Wash Skirts, good value at 68 cents, also large assortment at $1.25 and $1.50, bargains at $2.45, at Miriam's.

RIGGS BANK CASE GOES TO TRIAL IN WASHINGTON

Bank Officials Are Charged With Perjury by Government

Washington, May 8.—(By United Press)—With the leading legal lights of New York and Washington as advocates and bankers throughout the country as audience, the famous Riggs bank case came to trial here today.

Charles C. Glover, president; William J. Flather, vice-president; and Harry H. Flather, former cashier of the Riggs National bank are answering the charge of perjury in the District supreme court.

The three men are charged with testifying falsely that the Riggs bank did not engage in stock transactions.

Back of the case is the fact that has raged for a year, or since the Riggs bank officials charged Secretary of the Treasury McVey, John Shanton Williams, Comptroller of the currency and some other treasury officials with conspiracy to wreck the bank.

The bank officials plead that the stock transactions were in conformity with the law, and that the bank was not engaged in stock transactions.

Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for the treasury officials in the case, today said it was expected to last in an advisory capacity to U. S. Attorney Lusk, present in.

For the bank officials, the star witnesses are lawyers of Washington are today.

The fight between Williams and the bank officials has been bitter. Charges of perjury, bad faith and general unscrupulousness have flown back and forth between them ever since the spring of 1915.

Upon the refusal of the officials or their resignation hangs the renewal of the charter of the Riggs bank—one of the oldest and strongest outside of New York. Williams has hinted that he will not renew the charter if the present officers remain in charge unless they are freed of the perjury charge against them.

It is possible the trial will not be over before the present charter of the bank expires July 1.

The government charges 102 items of stock dealing by the bank. The fact that the company with which the transactions allegedly were made was a bankrupt was another angle expected to be unfolded.

The fact that the trial started today was a defeat for the bank officials, who tried to have it postponed on the ground that the trial would be a waste of time.
